	I tend to find an author or narrator that gets me going and will follow them down rabbit trails.

	I listen all day everyday, buy them 24 credits at a time. Always have about 10 pre orders going!

	Driving 40 plus hours a week I look for truly complete box sets or very long books.

8. Why do you like to listen to audiobooks while driving?

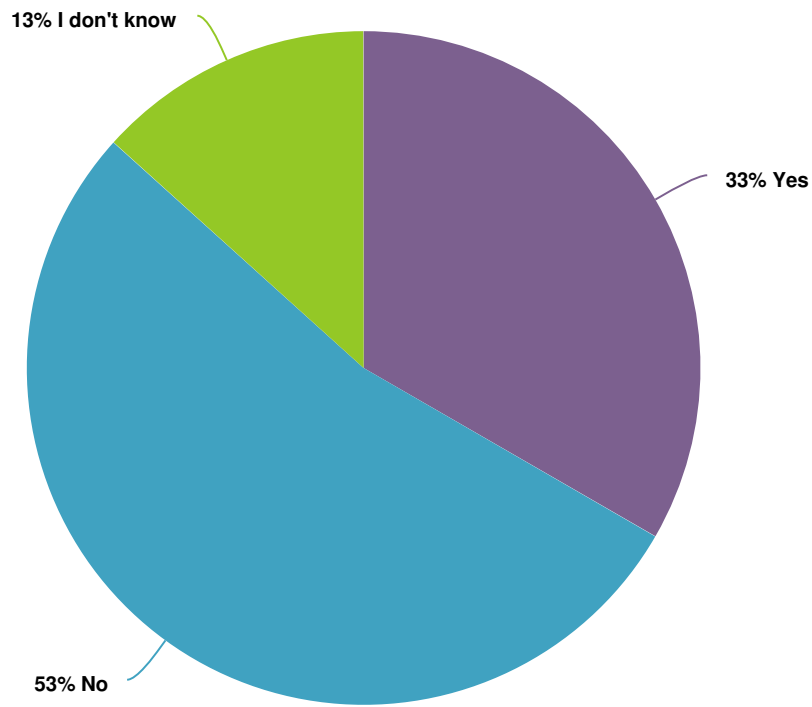

ResponseID	Response
1	Helps pass the time on long hauls.
2	keeps my brain engaged over listening to music which tends to lull me to slower reaction times
3	Passes the time well, most driving is repetative and non emgaging.
4	It's makes the time go by faster. Makes the day much more enjoyable.
5	I've got the time to get through my reading list
6	I've finally got the time to get through my reading list
7	To keep entertained whilst on long journeys and I love to escape to a different world inside my mind
8	Wait a damn minute !!! Eve14 has more books !?! They are all part of Robot Geneticist ?? Why does the average reader not know this?? I loved the Eve14 series, it was amazing, had I know there was more I would have devoured them.
9	Audiobooks are much more entertaining than the radio and listening to music all the time gets repetitive. There are so many audiobooks with such a massive range of categories and genre's that there's always something new or different to listen to.
10	Fun entertainment without too much distraction but i can still get sucked into the world. I've always loved reading and this is a great way to experience that while driving
11	They help pass the time and miles. Also they help keep the brain engaged.
12	One of the few long-form entertainment mediums that can safely be done while driving.
13	Better than music, keeps my mind active
14	Helps pass the time, find it relaxing especially when there is chaos on the roads.
15	Keeps me entertained without losing focus on what I'm doing.
16	I can't read so I like listening to books
